Dedication

THERE are men who by virtue of birth, and time, and ability, become the founders of things. They are privileged to plant the seed, to lay the foundations, and to them all honor is due. Yet there are other men who come too late for the time of planting, for the building of foundations, and it is these who keep the faith, and fulfill the work. It is these men who must face the rough road of fidelity, and who must perform the hard marriage of vision and practicality. To one of the most brilliant, and loyal, and best of these workmen, this ALFARATA is dedicated.

To Norman Jodon Brumbaugh the dedication of this book will seem a little thing; one of many honors which have come to him unsought, and indeed, only half-welcome, in his years at Juniata. But, this does not matter, for dedications are never for the person to whom they are tendered; they are for us who honor, that we may remember our debt, and our gratitude.

It will not be hard to remember Dr. Brumbaugh in his retirement, for whenever those who knew him meet a keen, brilliant person, a mind that moves swiftly from one issue to another, they will think of him. To Juniata he will be part of a double memory, first as one of the selfless family of the Brumbaughs, and second, as the beloved, brilliant Dr. Norman, who built so well upon the foundations. His students, scattered about our nation in positions of industry, science, and medicine, will tell you what manner of man he is.

To Norman Jodon Brumbaugh, in the year of his retirement, this book is dedicated.

ADMINISTRATION

The President

DR. CALVERT N. ELLIS
Th.B; Ph.D.
President, Juniata College

The most important part of any college is its spirit—that intangible quality which gives it uniqueness and distinction.

This volume will portray many aspects of the Juniata spirit,—the faithful devotion of faculty, the leadership of our College Senate, and the friendliness of our college community.

Juniata College is a community to which many contribute—in the classroom, in the Library, in Oller Hall, on the athletic field, and in the residence halls. The spirit, which each of us shares and to which each of us contributes, makes Juniata a place where horizons are broadened, curiosity encouraged, ideals honored, and faith is strengthened.

In future years we will remember the thrill of the gridiron, the experiment in the laboratory, the mark on the term paper, and the sun setting behind Tussey. But most of all we will remember the persons—students and faculty—who this year have carried forward the unique spirit of Juniata.

CALVERT N. ELLIS

If many years from now you should turn these pages again, I hope that your happiest recollection will be of the growth and achievement which your college days brought you. Friendships made in college are priceless and immortal. Activities of the playing field, the stage, and the editor's desk afford thrilling recollections. Quiet moments of worship and lively exchanges of opinion have an abiding influence.

And yet the unique experience of college is not quite any of these alone. All of these experiences are available in other avenues of life. If college life consisted only of them, the continuation of institutions of higher learning would be in serious jeopardy. Colleges must justify their existences in terms of something unique and uniquely superior.

I suggest that such justification is to be found in the encouragement of what we regard as the supreme achievement of mankind—intellectual maturity associated with moral energy and spiritual sensitivity. It is an achievement which requires unfaltering attention to the demands of learning. It requires the sometimes slow and usually arduous development of native powers of intellect and imagination and the cultivation of the disposition to make right choices in life. It is the achievement to which all the facilities of Juniata are dedicated, the achievement which we trust is yours as a result of your experience here.

It is the most rewarding achievement which man can have. By it man can have in generous measure the experiences which are peculiar to reasonable creatures. By it the universe can take on significance and man can find his ultimate destiny. By it the noblest satisfactions which man can expect are assured. These are the rewards of a college education which we hope are yours.

Dear :

Please fill in your own name as you read this letter because I am addressing you—You, the fellow I knew on the campus, in the dormitory, at Skips, and in my office; You, the girl who always chimed "hello, Dean Rhodes" as you passed me in the hall or saw me on the campus.

I am writing to you because your editor asked me to—but more, because I want to share a thought which I came across in my reading some time ago. If I know you at all, as I think I do, I believe you too will say it is good. Listen . . . "The success of any man is not for the world alone to judge. It is in his own state of mind that the true measuring rod exists . . . his peace of mind . . . and in his own estimation of the completeness of the career he has chosen to follow."

If you can find success by this measure during your lifetime, you will know the real joy and richness which I have known in my association with you at Juniata College.

Sincerely,
J. MELVIN RHODES

Dean of Women

A few of you may be faithfully keeping a five-year diary that will recall to mind in years to come most of your college life. But I know from experience that many who start a diary never finish it. Therefore this Alfarata with its highlighting of Social events will be helpful in recalling memories of what that part of college meant to you. To some there is very little emotional thrill in reading a printed page, but when pictured, this same material has vitality. This book has aimed to attract all of you in some way, and to this end we are all aware of and grateful for the long unselfish hours of work by the college Alfarata committee. We hope you will eventually feel as one alumnus has so aptly put it, "It is not that this is much of a contribution in itself, but it may add to the atmosphere which has given Juniata its real prominence." May you whose college career terminates this year have an urge to respond in some tangible way by making a substantial contribution to some Juniata project from which you would like your own children to benefit, as well as by your high standards in your way of living. Only with your support can the Juniata family stand solidly behind the Good Life which would bring peace and extend brotherhood.

On the basis of scholarship, cooperation in educational and extra-curricular activities, leadership, promise of future usefulness, and general good citizenship, eight Juniata College students were chosen for national recognition in the latest issue of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges, edited and published by H. Pettis Randall.

The above were nominated by a special committee of faculty and administration members. Their names and short biographical sketches were then published in Mr. Randall's book. In addition, the nominees received a certificate and a pin.

Row 2: JOHN KULP, Vice-President; ROBERT SAYLOR, President.

Ah, for the life of a Senior! In the midst of integration courses, English conferences, and similar Frosh handicaps, naive Freshmen in the fall of '45 were heard to utter these momentous words, never suspecting that four years later (especially during the early days of May), the carefree life of a "greenie" would gladly be exchanged for the turbulent "comprehensive" life of a Senior.

Once the traditional May "menace" was over, however, things begin to perk up and thoughts of an eager world waiting for unsuspected talent, and dreams of studyless, dormless days and nights made a Senior's year well worth the three that had gone before.

Under the chairmanship of Cassel Coffman, the class of '49 achieved full stature as Senior Juniatians with their first winning of the All Class Night cup for "That Whosoever Believeth," a religious drama written by Carolyn Hess.

Betty Ruth Hess was chosen as the '49 class representative on the Alumni Council. Elected for a five year term, she attended her first alumni meeting on Move-up Day.

High honors were paid to another "49'er" as Luke Shuler won the General Information Contest in his Junior year.

Standing: JOHN KEENER, president.

"It's Dzvonar fading back on the fifty, he's going to throw a pass, and it's a long one, way down the field.—There's Squeeze Long on the five yard line and he takes it over for a touchdown!" "That was George Smith who made that tackle, and what a beauty!" . . . Remember the football team last fall—there were juniors involved in every play.

"How did the Debate team make out last night?" "I heard they won everything." With Al Crease debating, we can't lose!

"How did you like 'The Swan'?"—Margaret Roop, Corena Sollenberger, and Eugene Roddy who played three of the outstanding roles portrayed their characters very well, don't you agree?

"Have you heard about the operetta 'Sweethearts'?" Lois Esaley, as student chairman, did a marvelous job in achieving the student body support in the many weeks of preparation. Frances Roddy was our leading lady.

Whether it be sports, dramatics, music, or any other field of endeavor, one simply can't overlook the pep, vim, and fervor of the Juniors.

The Penguin Club, "Nellie," the All-Class Nite skit, and the Junior Prom are three events which stand out for the class of '50.

Lake Clemmer, Jay Weist, Albert Hemp, Donald Kagarise, and Donald Johnson all realize the work and responsibility entailed in the chairmanship of such endeavors. Behind all this is much work which can best be accomplished by individuals and groups working together. This spirit of cooperation has been felt whenever this class has been called upon for a task. We can justly be proud of the members of the class of 1950.

When we entered Juniata as Freshmen we had the largest class in the history of the college, and our size has not been equaled since. As the Junior class journeys on to greater heights, they will leave their footprints on the sands of time.

Huddled somewhere between the spark of the Freshmen and the flickering glow of the Seniors, shines the Sophomore candle. It has not yet been worn down by years of classes and activities, but it has shined greatly in the face of responsibilities not only to itself, but to the college as well. Of its activities, the sophomore class can place many on its honor roll for sharing in the numerous religious, academic and social events, and it proudly can be said that the class of "51" has been the first group at Juniata to initiate a prom in the college dining hall.

The Sophomore class was the example the Freshmen needed in their strive upward and the answer to the leaders whose places it will fill. The past year has been a year of new facts, new thoughts, and new activities, and during the next two years the class of "51" will have to initiate unto itself the knowledge that facts alone cannot build a skyscraper, that skyscraper being an intelligence from a mind that is clear, that has good judgment and one that is active. The foundation has been set and on it we build higher.

Freshmen

The Class of 1952 began its freshman year under the leadership of Class Chairman Tom Gates, a Navy veteran from Altoona. This office, however, was merely a temporary one; its purpose was to consolidate the efforts of the class until an organizational meeting could be held to elect a full set of officers.

Accordingly, early in December of 1948, a special election meeting was held in which Gates was elected Class President by an overwhelming majority. The following were elected to assist him: Vice-President—Mike Mervis, Aliquippa, after a run-off election to break a tie between himself and Fred Bratton; Secretary—Lois Miller, Tuckahoe, N. Y.; and Treasurer—Art Allen, Greensburg, a veteran of Army service in Alaska.

The Class of 1952—characterized variously as "the frosh," "the greenies," and "those busy little beavers"—began the second semester as one of the largest classes in the history of Juniata, with 186 members.

The term "busy beavers" was apparently no misnomer, for Freshman students could be found involved in nearly every campus activity, curricular, extra-curricular, and otherwise, including such widely separated pursuits as boxing and theatrics.

Early in November the class produced The Freshman Follies, a talent revue for its own private amusement. A by-product of this event was that a large amount of talent was unearthed which was later used in the freshman All-Class Night offering, a musical comedy entitled "Familiar Faces."

Another high spot in the freshman year was the Victor Herbert comic opera, Sweethearts, in which the male starring role was held by a Class of 52'er. In addition, nearly one-third of the remaining cast consisted of Freshmen (eleven out of thirty-five), not to mention the large number who served as crew members.

Not only the stage, however, attracted the energies of the new-comers; the football grid, the hardwood courts, and the diamond invited their share of Freshmen, as did boxing, tennis, chess, and the pasteboards.

All in all, it may safely be said that the Class of 1952 established itself firmly in the traditions of its predecessors.

ORGANIZATIONS

The Student Senate

The Senate, according to the Provisional Constitution under which it operated this year, has "all powers relating to student affairs not otherwise delegated to faculty, administration, clubs, or other organizations." According to Senate President, James Utts, the immediate goal was to achieve a greater spirit of cooperation between students and faculty.

During the week-end of September 12, 1948, the Senate sponsored a Leadership Conference at Camp Kanesatake to which nearly fifty campus leaders and faculty members were invited. The purpose of the conference was to crystallize student desires in the form of a series of resolutions. Of the thirty-three proposals adopted by this conference, twenty-four have since been acted upon by the Senate.

An innovation inaugurated this year by the Senate was holding the Move-up ceremonies and the Junior Reception on the same date, April 27. Another new feature at the Reception, as well as at the Christmas Dance, was music provided by a campus dance band. A special addition to the Senate budget provided for two semi-formal dances per year.

The Senate consists of three faculty members—Dean Spencer, Dean Rhodes, and Bill Engel. In addition, there are four officers and eight representatives. The officers were as follows: James Utts, President; James Gittings, Vice-President; Betty Finnegan, Secretary; and Bill Allmond, Central Treasurer. Mr. Gittings graduated at the end of the Fall semester, and was replaced as Vice-President by Al Hemp. The representatives and their chairmanships were as follows: John Henderson, Athletics; Bill Wright, Underclassmen; Dick Stever, Men's House; Francis Mitchell, Women's House; George Parsons, General Activities; Jesse Garber, Publications; Jack Padgett, Religious Activities; Otis Jefferson, Social Activities. Mary Bemus was acting chairman of the Women's House Committee while Miss Mitchell was on student teaching.

The officers of the F. T. A.: Jim Altman, president; Bob Anderson, vice-president; and Mary Bemus, secretary-treasurer.

Future Teachers of America

The M. G. Brumbaugh Chapter of the Future Teachers of America, under the sponsorship of Dr. E. S. Kiracofe, had a total of 115 members this year, ranking it as possibly the largest chapter in the state. The general purpose of the F. T. A. is to acquaint prospective teachers with the history, ethics, and program of the teaching profession, to give them practical experience in working together on professional and community problems, and to attract to the profession the best young men and women obtainable with regards to character and scholarship. In the interests of this program, several guest speakers attended the meetings, including the Messers Joseph Neff and Raymond Sollenberger, members of the State General Assembly of Harrisburg, who discussed the relationship of the teacher in the public schools, and Mr. Eugene Bertin, Executive Secretary of the Pennsylvania State Education Association, who spoke on "Teaching as a Profession." In addition, several members attended the P. S. E. A. Workshop at Harrisburg on December 10 and 11, where they met representatives from all branches of education while joining in discussion groups. Dr. Kiracofe took part in a troup on "Teacher Education," while Jim Altman and Bob Anderson participated in a group discussing "In-Service Growth." The chapter was also represented at the state-wide convention at Millersville State Teachers College on March 25 and 26. This convention was the first of its kind ever to be held in Pennsylvania.

This year the French Club has been studying unique characteristics of the different provinces of France. French songs and games have also been featured at the meetings. They have also had Leilah Mullen and Prof. Oller talk about the parts of France with which they are acquainted helping the members of the club to better understand French life.

Highlights of this year's schedule were talks by speakers on the music, art, customs and literature of Latin America and Spain. Also featured at the meetings were slides concerning these countries. In the spring the club held a Pinata Party, which was the leading event of the year.

Formed of all home economic students, this club meets monthly to discuss the recent happenings in the field of home economics.

At Homecoming and Parents' Day the Lambda Gamma sold corsages and used the profit to send six CARE packages to a group of home economic majors at the University of Austria. Aid is also sent by this club to Opal Stech who is teaching in Warsaw, Poland. This year the Lambda Gamma served and prepared the testimonial dinner held in honor of N. J. Brumbaugh. Proceeds from this banquet were used for the JWSF Drive.

Scalpel & Probe

This year the club has tried to fulfill their purpose by showing movies obtained from Penn State Visual Aid Library and by having speakers—usually doctors—to talk about different phases of medicin and problems encountered by medical students. The club took a trip to the Lewistown Hospital where they observed medical and surgical treatment. The greatest event of the year is to be a trip to Philadelphia where they will visit biological research institutions with the hope that it will give them a broader outlook in the field of biology.

The potential Mighty Magnates and Terrible Tycoons of Juniata College, otherwise known as business majors, again this year incorporated themselves as the Tycoon Club. Meeting twice a month, they make any phase of business or economics their business. This is accomplished by the simple expedient of inviting their speakers from such nationally known business organizations as the National Cash Register Corporation and the Procter and Gamble Company.

R. C. Coffman, President; F. M. Wilson, Vice-President; and M. F. Hannum, Secretary-Treasurer.

Camera Club

Originally organized in 1946 to provide instruction in the basic principles of photography to interested beginners, the Camera Club has grown to the point where its meetings can be devoted to such technical matters as the technique of applying make-up so as to highlight individual characteristics in a portrait, and the method for making personalized Christmas cards decorated with original photographs. Nevertheless, the Club still has the interests of the beginners at heart, and many of the approximately thirty members are just that.

Taking as their theme "To Know Christ and to Make Him Known," the Juniata Student Volunteers had a successful year of devotional meetings and service for Christ. Despite the multiplicity of demands on their spare time about fifty students took advantage of this opportunity to worship and sing every Tuesday evening in the Old Chapel. The meetings were led by different students, many of them pre-ministerial students, and the singing was led by Lloyd Newlin with Paul Patterson at the piano.

Officers for the year were: Charles Pickell, President; Franklin Bird, Vice-President; Jane Lauffer, Secretary-Treasurer; Paul Patterson, Pianist; Lloyd Newlin, Chorister; and Louise McWherter, Publicity Chairman.

Peace Fellowship

Peace Fellowship is, as its name implies, not an organization, but a group of people who enjoy sharing thoughts and ideas about problems of mutual concern, particularly those problems having to do with human relationships and values. The common effort is to work towards the ideals of peace and human understanding. Among the activities stimulated by this fellowship has been the work of a Committee for CARE which engaged in a campaign to interest the college, family and the community in sending CARE packages.

The Masque

What happens to those people who cavort about Oller Hall stage in the various theatrical productions of Juniata College when there is no drama or musical in preparation? Where do the actors of J. C. hide out when they are not involved in their favorite form of recreation, histrionics? The answer is that many of them may be found attending the bi-monthly meetings of the Masque, an organization composed of all those interested in the theater. Approximately sixty such individuals joined the club this year to share in its benefits and its many activities.

The major activity of the Masque this year was the production of Ferenc Molnar's delightful comedy, "The Swan", on October 28 and 30. The varied activities ranging all the way from advertising to acting provided fun and work for all concerned and introduced many new members to the Masque. The other major production of the year, Victor Herbert's melodious musical "Sweethearts", also employed the talents of many members of the Masque, both in the cast and on the crews.

International Relations Club

The International Relations Club in 1948–49 had a year of success if judged by the calibre of its general program, but one of disappointment if judged by the interest shown by the student body as a whole. Six authorities were presented as guest speakers during the year in a program which attempted to cover the major international problems of the day.

In September President Ellis inaugurated the lecture series in Oller Hall with a review of his trip abroad last summer. He spoke on occupation problems. A month later the club brought Dr. Albert Parry from Colgate to give his idea of "What Shall We Do About Russia?" In November Miss Josephine Schain, official observer to the UN, reported on the "Progress of the Marshall Plan." The first half of the series closed with Mr. Ralph Harry, First Secretary, Australian Embassy, discussing his country's role in the UN.

In February the club sponsored two seminars, one on Communism and Sovietism, and one on Democracy and the American Way of Life. The speakers were Dr. Crosby, Dr. Hall, Dean Mays and President Ellis. Later that same month Mr. Paul Malone, Information Officer, Canadian Embassy, spoke on the North Atlantic Pact. In April Dr. Edwin O. Reischauer of Harvard, just back from a government mission to Japan, spoke on that country as a problem in America's foreign policy. Dr. Calvin K. Staudt, Headmaster of the American School for Boys, Baghdad, closed the year's program in May with an address on the Middle East.

Club officers were: Robert Smith, President; Alfred Crease, Vice-President; and Joanne Bell, Secretary-Treasurer.

THE SCOUT

To help him get off on the right foot when he enters Juniata, the Freshman is given a small, blue handbook called the Scout. This handbook gives the student necessary information about the college and its way of life. The Scout is presented by the Senate, and this year, under the editorship of Mary Phyllis Gibbs, it was improved in size and content. Business manager for this year was Jim Utts; advertising manager, Jill Woodring.

THE INDIAN

Under the direction of Bill Engel, Editor, the Varsity J Club published The Indian again this year, for the twenty-sixth time in succession. This little booklet, contains a pictorial revue of the Juniata Football Team and the opponents of the day. They were sold at the games with Alliance (Parents' Day), Haverford (Homecoming), and Moravian. Merle Brown served as circulation manager. Advertising for the booklet was solicited by John Stayer, and the finances were handled by Joe Beyer, Business Manager.

Honor Society

The Honor Society is exactly what its name implies—a loosely knit honorary group composed of students having high scholastic averages. Scholastic honors are, however, not the only criterion for membership. The contribution of the student to the life and culture of the college and his success in balancing his studies with social contacts such as extra-curricular activities are also taken into consideration by the board of elections. This board consists of the president of the college, a limited number of faculty members, and all of the members of the society still remaining on campus.

The Society was established about ten years ago, when it was decided that it was indeed a strange state of affairs for a college to honor its athletes, and yet fail to pay its respects to those who succeed in the quest for knowledge and a well-rounded life. It was, and is, a purely local organization, since the college has not applied for membership in any national honor society. However, it most closely resembles Phi Beta Kappa, and may eventually become a chapter in that society.

Although no scrolls or keys are awarded to members, as in many such organizations, the college annually honors the group with a formal dinner at the Penn-Coffee Shop, usually in May.

Elected to membership last year were Thomas Boyd, Jack Buckle, Elizabeth Leach, John Schell, Luke Shuler, and Vivian Souder, all of the Class of 1948; also John Kepford and Philip Strittmatter, both of the Class of 1949.

Ministerium

"The purpose of the Ministerium is to provide an opportunity for fellowship and instruction to the pre-ministerial students of Juniata College and all others interested."

Officers for this year were: Warren Groff, President; Paul Shaffer, Vice-President; and George Tinsman, Secretary-Treasurer. Professor Glick served as the Faculty Advisor.

A Cappella Choir

This year's western tour took the members of the Choir from classes for a week in February as five high schools and ten churches were visited in this bi-annual western circuit. Everett, Somerset, Meyersdale, Greensburg, and Johnstown were among the cities receiving the Choir. Radio listeners became acquainted with Juniata's messengers of song through broadcasts at Greensburg and Johnstown. The latter city was the stopping place of the Choir's traditional "off-day."

Special members of the Choir's program were rendered by the girls' varsity trio consisting of Gladys Clemens, Francis Roddy, and Elma Stine, and the varsity male quartet whose members were Cassel Coffman, Gerald Hartzel, William Yetter, and Glenn Zug. Several solos rounded out the varied program.

Weekend trips to Chambersburg, Waynesboro, Hagerstown, and Altoona as well as other nearby cities completed the Choir's itinerary. Home concerts included the twenty-ninth consecutive Mother's Day concert in the St. James Lutheran Church in Huntingdon, and a February concert in Oller Hall.

A large measure of the success of the Choir this year was due to the direction of Professor Rowland and the leadership of the following officers: Cassel Coffman, President; Thomas Shoemaker, Manager; Gladys Clemens, Assistant Manager; Frances Roddy, Secretary; Gerald Hartzel, Treasurer; and Elma Stine, Publicity.

Band

Playing during the football and basketball games and making formations at half time were the main activities of the college band this fall.

In the spring there was the annual concert, held on the lawn in front of Oller Hall.

The band this year was under the direction of Professor Jack D. Brammer, a new member of the music faculty.

Orchestra

The Juniata Symphony was pleased to welcome Prof. Jack D. Brammer, a new member of the music faculty, as its director.

The activities of the orchestra included two Oller Hall concerts. The first of these concerts was given Dec. 15, 1948; the second on spring commencement.

Officers for the year included: Elma Stine, president; George Meyer, vice-president; William Peightel, secretary-treasurer; and Franklin Perkins, librarian.

Great interest was shown by the members of the orchestra, and under the enthusiastic guidance of Mr. Brammer, the orchestra proved itself to be a worthwhile, vital organization.

The Juniata College Student Group of the American Guild of Organists has been in existence for 3 years. It was one of the first such college organizations to be sponsored by the National Guild.

Activities of the group included two public student organ recitals in January and April; and monthly meetings held in Oller Hall at which programs suitable for the aspiring organist were presented.

The Chapel Choir provides choral responses, leads the hymn singing, and on occasion sings timely anthems for the college chapel services.

On December 12, 1948, the choir presented "A Pageant of the Christ Child," by G. Darlington Richards. The choir was assisted by the play production class in the presentation of this religious spectacle, which was witnessed by a large and appreciative audience.

Thus, besides fulfilling a worthwhile purpose, the choir gives fine vocal experience to many students.

The attractive and timely decorations in the dining room every week are proof of the new ideas and willingness to work which has characterized the Women's House Committee this year. The Committee is advised by the Dean of Women and headed by Frances Mitchell, who was elected by the student body last spring and who represents the women resident and day students on the Senate. Twenty-three representatives from each hall in the dorm and in Geiger House formed the committee serving under her.

Several important events on Juniata's calendar found the committee playing an active part in making them a success. On Parent's Day, "open house" was observed in the dorm at which time awards were made to those rooms which the judges considered were tastefully arranged and "typical" college rooms. Homecoming found the committee hostess to the large crowd of returning alumni and friends.

In the words of the Provisional Constitution for the Juniata College Student Association, "it shall be the duty of the chairman of men's house, through his committee, to see that proper order and quiet is maintained in the dormitories during the study hours, and to promote the maximum amount of cooperation in dormitory life." Chairman Dick Stever and his committee also arranged Christmas decorations in front of Founder's Hall, prepared a sports exhibit for Homecoming Day, and held a "get-acquainted" party for the new freshman students who entered Juniata College at the beginning of the Spring semester.

A radical change in the committee which serves to introduce the Freshmen to life on college hill resulted in what is now known as the Underclass Committee, having jurisdiction over the Freshmen as well as their traditional rivals, the Sophomores.

Accordingly this year emphasis was placed on more cooperation and a friendlier spirit between the classes especially around initiation week. Looking back to past years, the Committee felt that milder forms of initiation were necessary and more desirable.

Radio Committee

Organized as a result of a recommendation of the Senate sponsored Leadership Conference at Camp Kanestake, the Juniata College Radio Committee has provided a wide variety of programs over the local radio station, WHUN. The selection offered included musical shows, public lectures, dramatic programs, forums, and special broadcasts. This latter classification covers such features as convocation services for the new year and a Thanksgiving devotional program.

With Denny Dimwit the symbol of their activities and Cassel Coffman as Captain, Juniata World Service Fund solicitors made a grand sweep over J. C. during the spring session. As a result, the J. W. S. F. goal of "$1949 in 1949" was quickly reached and passed.

The final statistics, released March 25, 1949, showed that contributions totaled $2221.02. This sum was distributed among six organizations, each donor being permitted to name the beneficiary of his particular contribution. As a result, Foreign Student Aid received the largest portion, followed by H. Stover Kulp, J. M. Blough, Opal Stech, World Student Service Fund, and the Red Cross. F. S. A. was also credited with the proceeds from "Sweethearts," the Victor Herbert operetta presented March 18 and 19.

The J. W. S. F. Drive is held annually on the Juniata Campus to raise funds for the above mentioned charities. It is comparable to a Community Chest Drive in that it combines all of the campus charity drives into one major effort, thus eliminating the annoyance and wasteful overhead of a number of separate and poorly organized drives.

Football Coach

Football reached an all time high in 1948. Coach Bill Smaltz climaxed his second year as head coach by guiding the Indians to what is considered their best season in the school's history. By compiling an impressive record in his two years as head coach, Bill has heaped more laurels on his already impressive record. Bill was one of the nation's top passers at Penn State throughout the 1939 to 1941 seasons.

Able assistance was tendered in the coaching department by line coach Robert S. Bayer and backfield coach Dr. Arnold T. Greene. Bob Bayer was an end at Mercersburg and Princeton; served as assistant end coach at Princeton in 1939 and 1940 before joining the Indians in 1946. He is a Huntingdon business man.

Doc Green was an outstanding quarterback at the University of Pittsburgh, where, under the tutelage of Jock Sutherland, he excelled in punting. A Huntingdon dentist, he gives his time freely to the team.

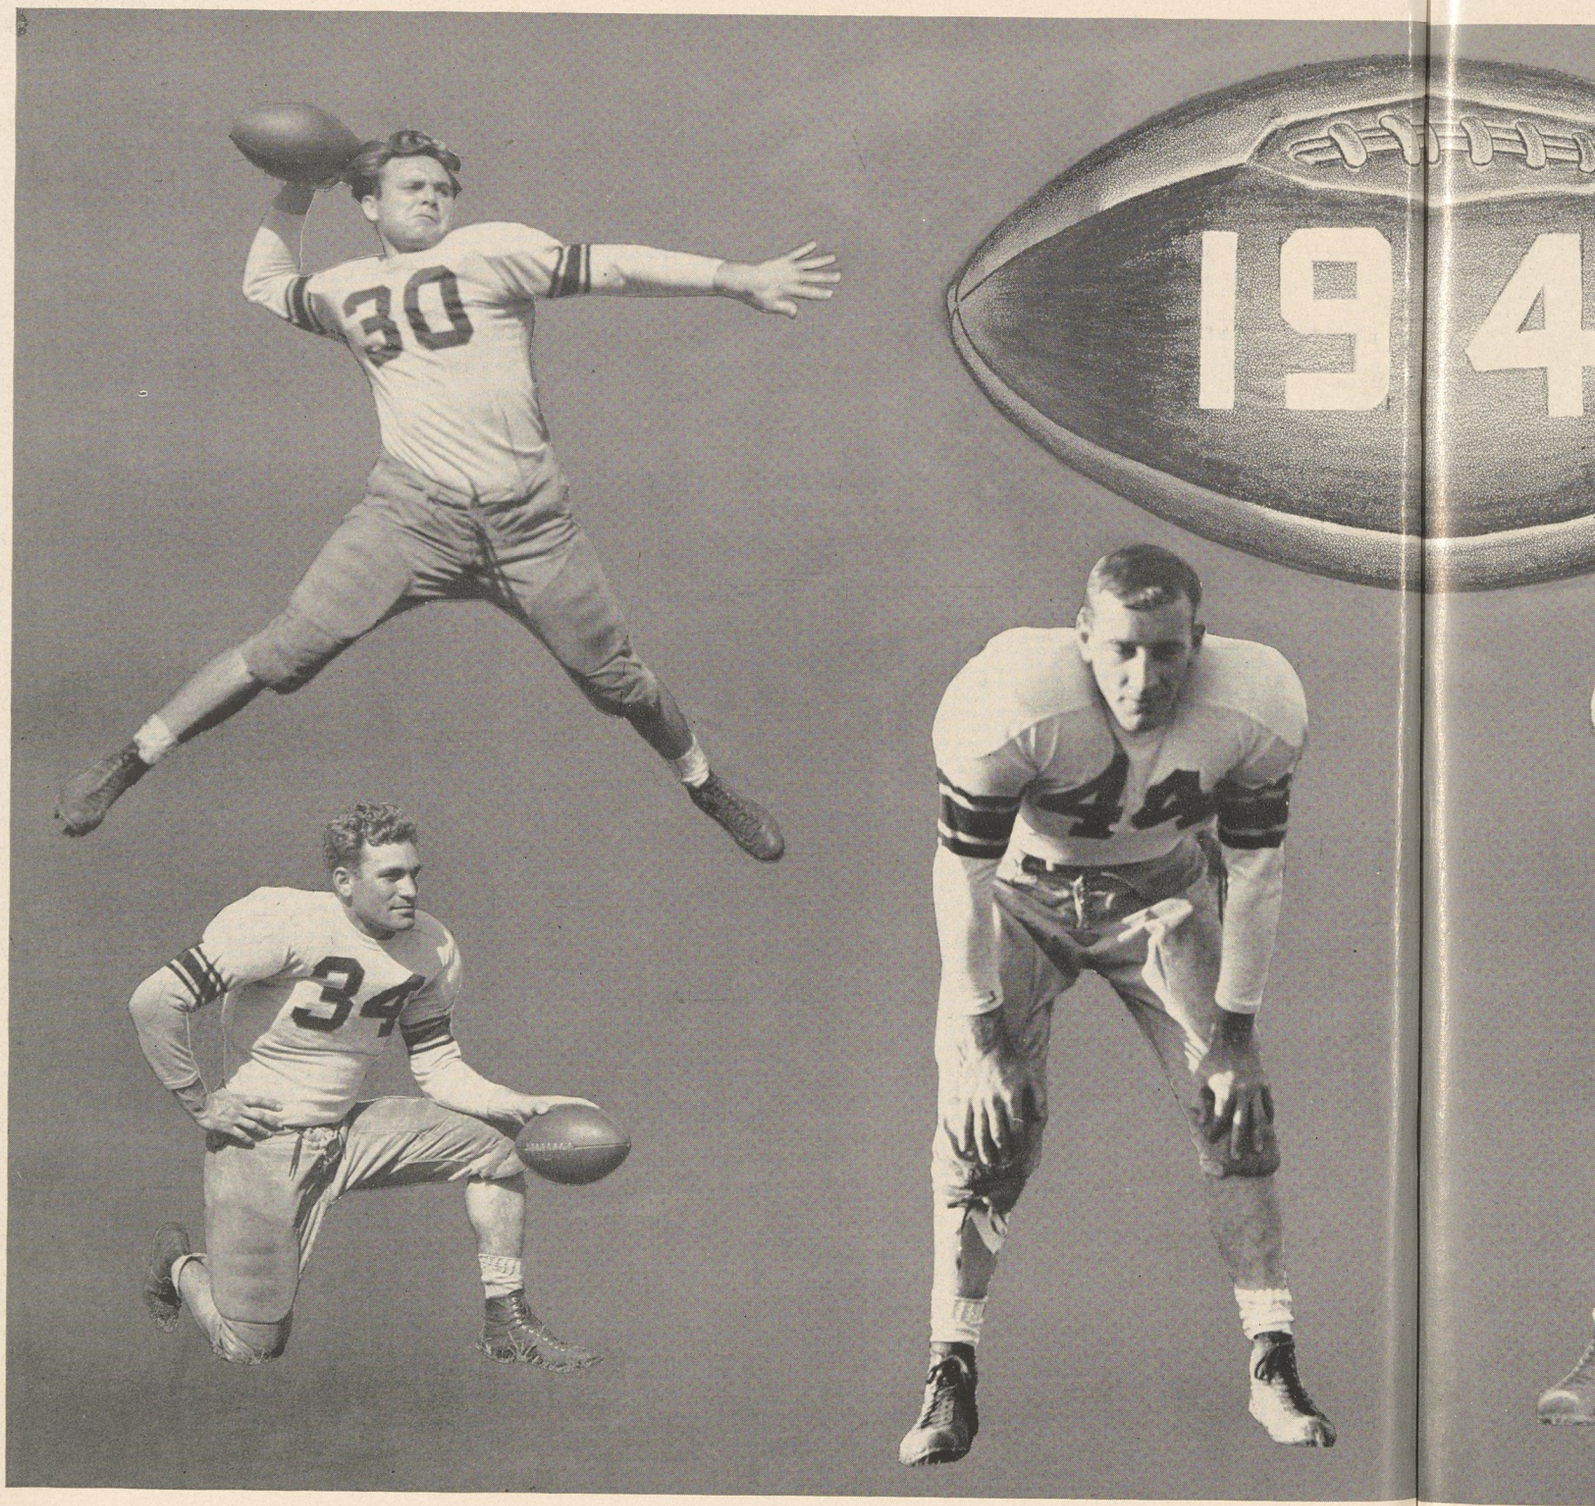
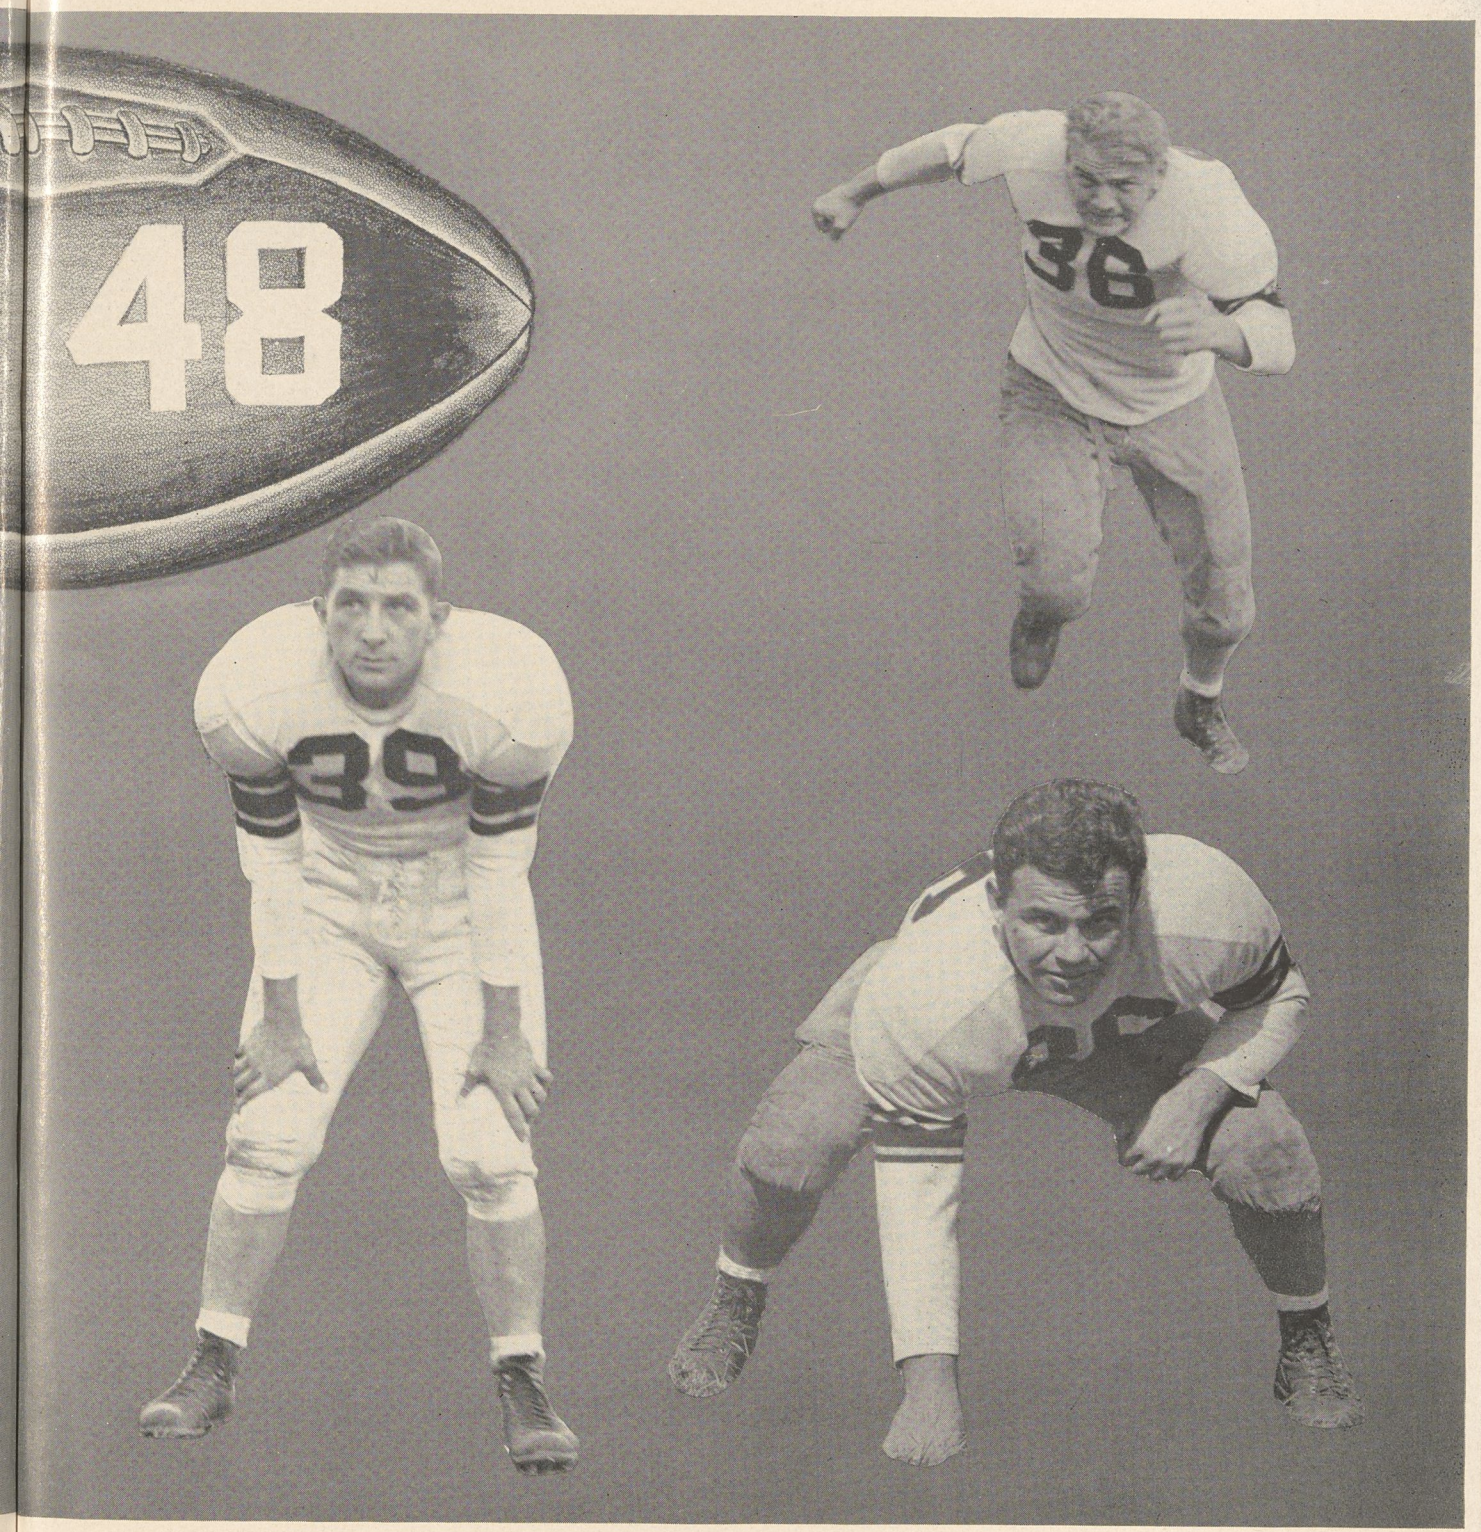
Heralded as Juniata's finest all around grid combination the 1948 team compiled a record of four victories, two defeats and one tie. If a tie is considered, statistically, half a defeat and half a victory the season's average is .643, eclipsing the .625 average acquired in 1937 by five victories and two defeats. Any way that you look at it, it was one of Juniata's banner years in football.



The initial game of the season did not come off as planned as an underrated Westminster team got the jump on the Indians and pushed over the winning touchdown on the second play of the game. The Juniata forces could not get mobilized and were humbled by an inspired Westminster, 20 to 0.



For the next game on the schedule the Indians were up! In a bruising game marked by brilliant defensive play the Smaltzmen checked the vaunted Alliance power and reversed last year's score of 0–7. Cecil Jackson's recovery of an Alliance fumble set the scene for Meteor Mike Dzvonar's first seven points of the season.

Results

Amos Alonzo Stagg and company were the next aggregation to run afoul of the Indian horde. Juniata's second victory was high-lighted by Phil Chabody's thrilling 85 yard runback of the second half kickoff. The 14 to 6 final score left Susquehanna fans wondering as to what happened to their offensive power, but we know.

Our Indian braves made it three in a row by taking the Red Devils in hand before an unbelieving Homecoming Day crowd. Smaltz's forces did more than the weather in dampening Dickinson spirits who hoped to see speedster Gerry Miller hold a track meet for the benefit of the alumni. They were disappointed 23 to 6.

Haverford threw a scare into the Indian supporters by going on a third period scoring spree and leading the Indians 21 to 20 at the beginning of the final period. Happily enough Juniata was up to the occasion and, although injury ridden, they turned on the power to steamroller the Mainliners and win 34 to 21 going away.

At Lebanon the veritable roof caved in on the Juniata squad as a brutal, vengeance-seeking Lebanon Valley aggregation halted the Indian winning streak at four straight by administering a 27 to 8 trouncing upon the Juniata contingent. A grudge game, because of last year's 20 to 6 upset by Juniata, the contest was marred by unsportsmanlike conduct with the result that L. V. C. may not appear on the Juniata football schedule for a few years.

The final fray of the season was a disappointment in one respect, that being it cast a doubt on the validity of this being Juniata's best season. A weak, but dogged pack of Greyhounds and a strong wind almost snatched this bone from the teeth of the win-hungry Indians, nearly turning what was supposed to be an easy victory into a tragedy. Dame Fortune was capricious, but smilingly awarded the Smaltzmen a 6–6 deadlock with Moravian as a parting gesture. Thus ended the 1948 campaign . . .Our greatest season!

The success with which Coach Smaltz applied the Penn State style of attack is borne out by the statistics supplied by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau. According to these records the Indians were rated as 26th in the nation on total defense, 2nd in Pennsylvania with an average of 177.3 yards given up per game. In rushing defense Juniata was also 2nd in Pennsylvania and was 14th in the nation, their average being 96.7 yards per game.

MIKE SNIDER, Coach

Coached by Mike Snider, captained by Johnny Stayer, and paced by Holmes Ulsh, this basketball team of 1948–49 was another curious mixture of unfathomable substitutioning, uninspiring but conscientious leadership, and a flashiness on the court that did its best to hide all other defects. And like the previous year, 1948–49 was a season of averaging 53 points per game but winning only four of them.

Basketball under Coach Snider since the war has not been a howling success. In three years and 56 games his varsities have come home victorious only 10 times, or less than in the one season alone of 1945–46 when the Indians had a record of 13 wins and six losses.

In these post-war years of athletic rehabilitation and disappointment, Indian teams have been stocked chiefly with boys fresh from the high school courts supplementing the small number that returned from the service with previous college experience. And it was youngsters like Ulsh, Korody, Welch, Kreider, Curry, Newlin and George Smith who provided Coach Snider with a pretty fair selection from which to mould that dreamed of winner of tomorrow.

Sophomore forward Holmes Ulsh gave this whole season the only consistently tasty spice it had throughout its 18-game length. Averaging better than 16 points every night he played, Holmes wound up just one goal shy of the 300 point mark. His season's top score came in the climactic victory over Ursinus when he registered 30 points, 17 of them in the final hysterical quarter when the Indians won out, 70–60.

Playing only six games at home, the Indians were more than sporting in bagging three of their four wins before the campus crowd in the Huntingdon High gym. After losing the home opener to Elizabethtown, 50–71, with Frank Keath going wild for 36 points against them, and then again to Hartwick, 51–67, the Indians cut loose against a weak Lycoming quintet to win, 81–44, for their first triumph.

Against Lebanon Valley they buckled in the final period to fall short, 54–78, but then bounced back to edge Allegheny by a whisker, 51–49. The next night, on the second leg of a western road trip, the Indians dropped one just as close to Grove City, 46–49. This trimming was the beginning of a slump that carried the Warriors through nine games before they cracked the ice against Susquehanna, 52–43. The low point in this losing streak, in which the Indians lost to Albright, Susquehanna, Geneva, Baltimore, Quantico Marines, St. Francis and Lebanon Valley, was the debacle against St. Francis in Altoona. The Frankies' 98 to 35 score was the highest ever posted against a Juniata court squad in 45 years of basketball. Before trouncing Ursinus in the season's windup game, the varsity fell to E-town again, 51–72, and to Dickinson, 52–89.

In considering the degree of success or failure that belongs to this team of 1948–49, it is necessary to analyze what sort of competition they met in their 18 games. In four contests the Indian defense had to reckon with either E-town's Keath or Evan Zlock of Susquehanna, a pair of hotshots who ranked high in scoring throughout the nation. Though held to only 11 points in Susquehanna's second game with J.C., Zlock scored 42 in their first meeting. In addition, against Dickinson the Warriors felt the sting of still another high scorer, Weston Overholt, whose 39 points against the Blue and Gold set a floor record for the Dickinson gym.

Were basketball played only for victories, Juniata and many other schools would have packed away their togs many years ago. In its collegiate history in this sport Juniata's record stands at 281 wins and 329 losses. Yet in these many years of more losses than wins, hundreds of players have entertained thousands of students and have so profited physically in the process as to warrant the continuance of basketball as a major sport on the Juniata College program.

BILL SMALTZ, Coach

Under the coaching of Bill Smaltz, again handling the team after a successful "freshman" year as diamond mentor, the Indians were looking for a replacement to fill the gap left by Ray Clapperton at shortstop and another dependable hurler to team with Tom Kyper.

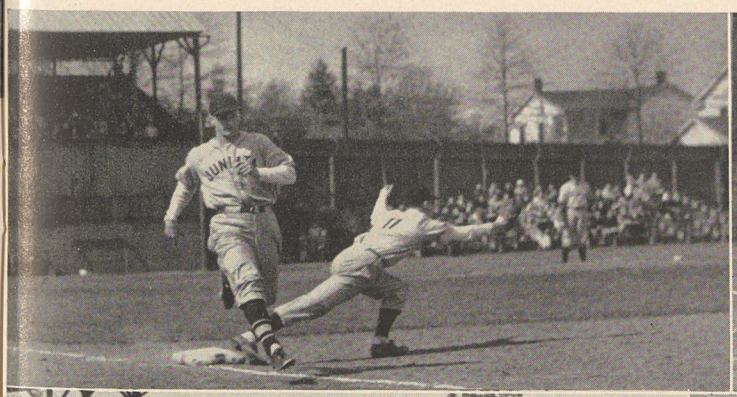
Dick Stever was shifted from first base to shortstop and Paul Peoples came along to augment the mound staff. Two newcomers came through in splendid fashion to round out the infield, Mike Dzvonar of football fame at the hot corner, and Wasco Berzansky at the initial sack. Squeeze Long and Stever provided the keystone combination.

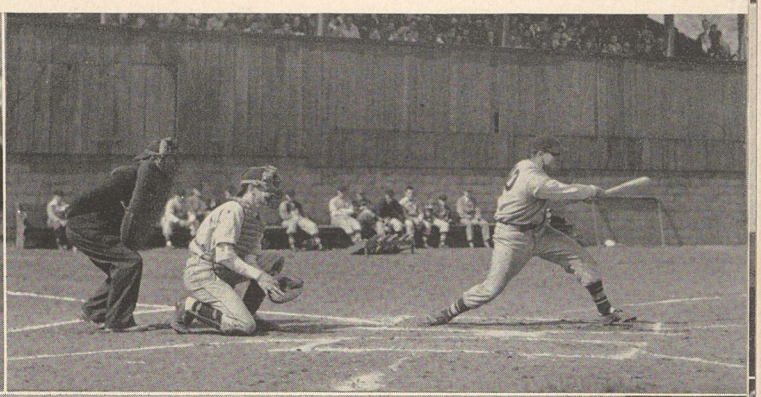
The catching department was strong, with Don Everhart again doing yeoman's work, while George Kensinger was used in pinch-hitting roles. His ninth inning single as a substitute won the Susquehanna game at home. Squire Holsinger, Jack Lang and Dave Phenicie, another newcomer, played most of the season in the outfield.

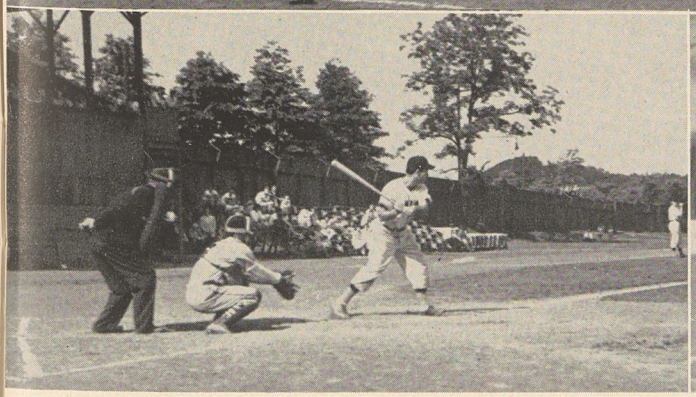
Tom Kyper, the Huntingdon redhead, again carried most of the pitching burden, but a pint-sized lefthander, Paul Peoples, also turned in several sparkling performances. He was the "find" of the year, after riding the bench the previous season. Fred Phenicie, a righthander from Lewistown, contributed several well pitched relief jobs.

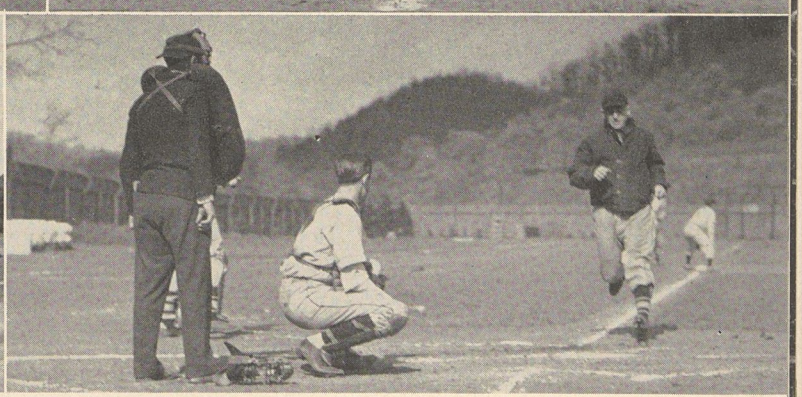
The "Southern tour" was more or less ill-fated. The weather was favorable and the team got some good training, but the opponents had the advantage of an earlier start for outdoor practices. A deluge of extra-base hits by the Quantico Marines snowed the Indians under by a 15–5 count while Randolph-Macon overpowered the Smaltzmen 13–5. The Warriors got on the right track with a 14–1 hammering of Bridgewater, as Kyper and Phenicie held the Eagles to five hits.

A four run first inning enabled Juniata to edge Bucknell at home, 6–4, as Kyper won his second game. Dzvonar, Holsinger and Lang did some solid socking to insure the victory.









On the road, the Indians and the Pitt Panthers locked horns in the season's most thrilling game, a veritable "once in a lifetime." The game went 15 innings with shadows falling on Pitt Stadium before a rightfield single by Don Everhart drove in Mike Dzvonar with the winning marker to enable Juniata to emerge victor, 3–2. Sharing the hero's mantle was Paul Peoples, smallish southpaw from McAlevys Fort, who relieved Kyper in the first inning and stifled the Panthers on one run and 9 hits in 15 innings, walking only 2 men.

Dame Fortune's smile turned to a frown the next day as St. Vincent outlasted the Indians to take an 8–7 decision. A brilliant ninth inning rally fell one run short of tying the score.

Sixteen hits resounded off Juniata bats as the Blue and Gold smothered Elizabethtown, 15–4. Freddie Phenicie hurled 5 innings of air-tight relief ball and Jack Lang and Julius Long led the attack on the Blue Jays. The next two scheduled games, both with Lebanon Valley were rained out.

Home for the first time the Indians came through with a 16–9 triumph over Elizabethtown. Mike Dzvonar featured the 16-hit attack with "5 for 5", including the "cycle"—home run, triple, double and single. Jack Lang also pounded a home run.

In a tight game at Selinsgrove the Susquehanna Crusaders turned back the Men of Smaltz, 6–3. Another extra inning duel featured the Albright game with Paul Peoples again on the mound as the Lions edged out the Blue and Gold, 5–4, in 12 innings after the Indians had tied up the contest in the ninth frame after two were out.

Dickinson beat J. C. in another close contest, 3–2, with Tom Kyper locked in a duel with Ed Carl, as the winning run came as the result of a Juniata error. The tables were turned as the Indians came from behind to edge out Susquehanna, 9–8, with a 3-run rally in the ninth canto, featured by Kensinger's bingle to drive in the necessary two runs. Kyper was the victor in a fireman role.

Ursinus avenged a 1947 defeat as they blasted the Warriors at Collegeville, 12–0, although the visitors had 10 hits. The Indians gained sweet revenge against the Red Devils of Dickinson as Paul Peoples hurled a beautiful four-hit shutout to win 4–0. Squire Holsinger's three hits sparked the attack. Peoples retired the last 14 men in order, with not a man reaching third base the entire contest.

The Blue and Gold were turned back by St. Francis 6–4 at Loretto in their last away game of the year. In a wild and woolly contest the Quantico Marines slammed out a 16–8 victory although the Indians counted 8 times in a big fourth inning to tie the score temporarily.

Led by Jack Lang's home run, triple and two singles, the Smaltzmen rang down the curtain by whipping St. Vincent, 14–4, on Commencement Weekend. Don Everhart clubbed three singles to co-star with Lang and Peoples, who spaced 11 enemy hits to chalk up his third win of the season.

As a whole the team improved their batting average over the previous season, advancing from .258 to a very respectable .284. Co-captain Jack Lang, the McConnellstown slugger, wound up the batting champ with a .431 average.

Paul Peoples had the top figure in the earned run averages for pitchers with 2.85 on 3 wins and 2 losses. Tom Kyper, Huntingdon hurler, won three contests also, as well as topping the pitchers in strikeouts. Fred Phenicie and Squire Holsinger copped the other games.

Track

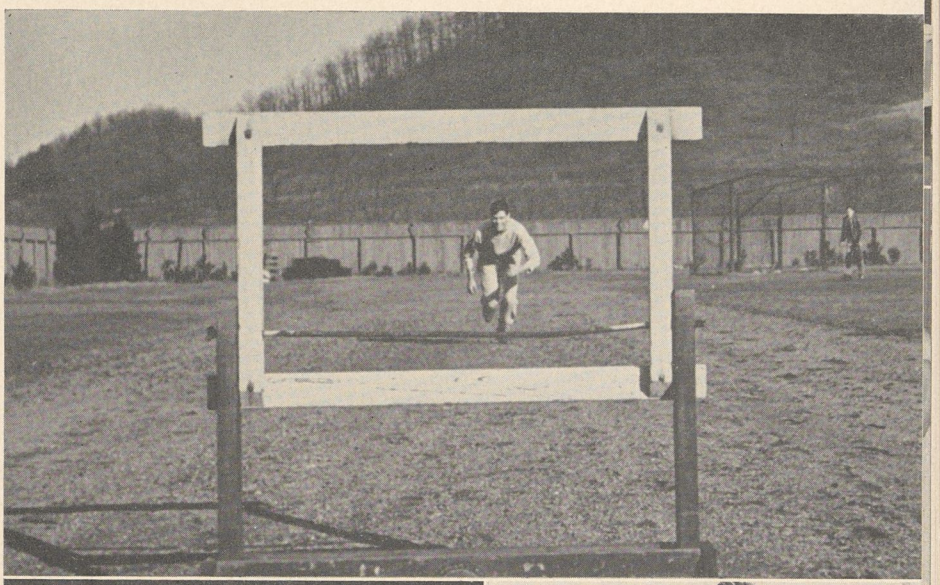
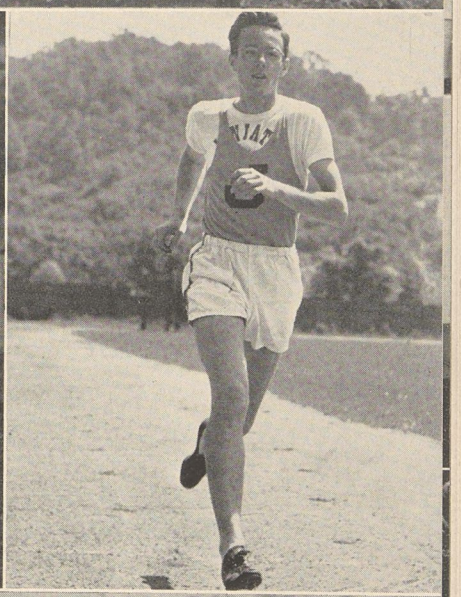
HOLMES ULSH—Juniata's High Flyer

Five lettermen provided the nucleus around which Mike Snider built the successful 1948 track team. While grateful for such veterans as Joe Beyer, two miler; Don Dunkle, high jumper; Jess Garber, discus thrower; Clyde Mellinger, sprinter; and Jack Walters, high jumper, the coach was not unmindful of new talent. With the addition of new men, Bill Murray, half miler; John Whittaker, weights; Charles Brumbaugh, weights; Kirkland MacDougall, broad jumper; John Buterbaugh, hurdles; and Coy Hicks, pole vault, a record of two victories and one defeat in dual competition was fashioned. The Tribe downed Dickinson, 70–56, Albright, 67–59, lost to Geneva, 87–44, and placed last in a triangle meet with 38½ behind Bucknell, 70½ and Gettysburg, 45. Joe Beyer placed third in the Middle Atlantic two mile run in 10:07.



COY HICKS—Most versatile of all Juniata's track men, Coy gained the highest number of points by competing in the low hurdles, dashes and pole vaulting.



Two Juniata record breakers—BILL MURRAY, who smashed the the 880 time and JOE BEYER who garnered the two mile record.

In the second season of inter-collegiate competition, Juniata College's golf team assured themselves a place as honorary chieftains in the Indian's Hall of Sports Fame when they brought in a season of nine straight undefeated games.

Guided by Dr. Edgar S. Kiracofe, former Juniata baseball coach, the team consisted of John T. Burych*, Fred E. Dannaway, Orville C. Dore*, Harry W. Hagmeier, Ray Z. Korody, Jay P. McCardell*, C. Blair Miller*, Robert G. Rhodes, and Harold W. Wagner*.

During the spring of 1948, the team played Pitt University, Bucknell University (twice), Geneva State Teacher's College, Western Maryland University, Albright College, Johns Hopkins University, and Franklin and Marshall College. Four of these were home games. The varsity group successfully concluded their schedule in the fall by defeating the alumni team 6–3 at the Huntingdon Country Club course. This gave them a final score for the season of forty-two matches won, seven lost, and five even.

Interschool sports have become more important this year, with a hockey playday spent at Pennsylvania College for Women in Pittsburgh and a basketball-badminton playday at Pennsylvania State College. A day of softball and other games were held in the spring on campus.

Intra Murals

Intra-mural sports were inaugurated many years ago due to the belief that every student should have an equal opportunity to take part in athletics. Included among the sports available this year were the traditional touch football, basketball, tennis, and baseball, as well as wrestling and volleyball, which were new to the Juniata campus this season. Many consider the past year the most successful for intra-mural activities the college has ever known, for a high student and spectator interest began to manifest itself early in the year and continued to its close. More teams were formed than have been seen in the past, and much new talent was revealed. All in all, it may be said that the intra-mural program has proved its value once again.

Adding a spark of traditional color, zealous encouragement, and true Juniata school spirit to the athletic events of the year, our cheerleading squad supported the football and basketball teams with a spirit which never faltered. In addition to cheering at all home contests, the cheering squad traveled with the teams to away games when possible.

All home football games were preceded by rousing pep rallies which usually included a parade through Huntingdon ending at Round Top, the scene of our Indian bonfires. Before our football team left for away games, the cheerleaders led the students in cheers which gave our boys the winning spirit and the feeling that everyone on campus was an ardent rooter.

J Club

This year saw the formation of a completely reorganized and enlarged Varsity "J" Club designed to create a really active campus organization. Under the leadership of President Jerry Rupert, Vice-President John Henderson, and Secretary-Treasurer Joe Beyer, the club early in the year adopted a new constitution which it felt would fulfill its purposes.

Composed entirely of Varsity "J" winners, the club attempted to create an active interest in sports on College Hill, and to promote both fellowship and sportsmanship among the athletes. Following this policy the club, as in previous years, published the Indian, the official football program, under the editorship of Mr. William Engel.

In the spring, acting under the new award system, the club presented sweaters to those members who were seniors or who had duplicated their letter.

Homecoming Queen

The brief reign of Miss Homecoming II extended from dawn to dusk of a windy, fall, football afternoon. For these few hours, the applause and deference of the student body and alumni were hers, and she ruled as reigning beauty of the campus.

The idea of a "Miss Homecoming" originated last year in the mind of the editor of the College newspaper. This year, her election was again promoted by that publication, which nominated a group of seven women, chosen on the basis of their approach to the "ideal" Juniata co-ed. From among this group, Miss Mary Lou Cannon was elected by the student body at large.

Miss Cannon is a senior, who came to the College from Bridgeville, Delaware. She is a home-economics student, and plans to teach. A basketball player of note, she is tall, alert, and possessed of an easy charm. For this one brief day, she represented the dream of Juniata men and the expression of the ideal in Juniata co-eds.

May Day

The colorful May Day pageant, held on the lawn in front of Oller Hall, last year told an enchanting story of Mother Goose characters.

While reading from her huge story book, Alice in Wonderland was put to sleep by the Sandman and his helpers, the elves. As the theme developed, Mother Goose and many of her nursery rhyme friends entered the picture. Climaxing the gala affair was the arrival of the May Court consisting of Queen Lois Tromm, Prince Consort Sam Woffindin, the Maid of Honor and two attendants chosen from each of the respective classes. After the coronation, came the winding of the May poles, and finally the recession of our story book acquaintances.

Among the columns inaugurated were Bob Smith's "Out in the World," which offered a resume of the week's world events, and "Outdoor Outlook," a report by Don Brandt on such activities as hunting and fishing.

The Alfarata

Here it is 11:30 P.M., the editor is politely begging for this final bit of copy, and Mac is gently suggesting it's time we left. And I can't think of a thing to say about this book! I could mention the fun we've had preparing it for you; or I could remind you that it's a record in words and pictures of more than two hundred days in your life at Juniata; or I might even suggest that you probably have better things to do than read this page (like staring for hours at those pictures of you). Instead, I'll say, "Here it is—The Alfarata!"

Editor's Nook

This is another Alfarata born in times of stress. In the production of this book, our battle was with rising costs, and only a mildly increased budget. For that reason, the reduction in the dimensions of this book.

The Alfarata for 1949 is, perhaps more than any preceding one, a book of pictures. We made it so because of a belief that the pictures here produced will attract your attention long after the words we write are of no consequence. So here they are, pictures from every mood and activity of the life of the College, chained in these pages for the years to come. We hope you will enjoy them.

There has been something exciting about watching a book grow beneath our hands, and the preparation of these few pages has brought to us in clearer focus a picture of Juniata as a molder of cultured men and women. One does not realize the wealth of tradition and custom which abounds on this hill, until he is faced with the necessity of selecting, as in the making of this book. Out of the task has come to the staff of the Alfarata for 1949 a warmer sense of gratitude toward the many men who shape this college community.

And so, the Alfarata for another year leaves our hands. It goes out to you without apology, and it will stand or fall in your estimation to the degree that it faithfully captures the spirit of this past year, on College Hill. We commend it to your hands.

ADVERTISEMENTS

To the Advertisers:

The success of a small college yearbook depends upon the wholehearted support of the segments of the college and community. Without advertising it would be impossible for us to undertake such an enterprise. The business community of Huntingdon and neighboring towns, with their usual spirit of cooperation with the students of Juniata College, have made in this yearbook a splendid contribution. On behalf of the staff of the Alfarata we sincerely thank each and every advertiser and express to them our deep-rooted gratitude for their generosity in making the 1949 yearbook a reality. We hope that in future years the relationship between the college and the business community will be as mutually satisfying as it has been this year.

INSURANCE

HUNTINGDON
PENNSYLVANIA

GREETINGS, JUNIATIANS:

OUR BUSINESS IS INSURANCE!

Swigart Associates, Inc. is just another name for the most complete Insurance Service to assureds and to agents in four states.

No longer is Swigart Associates, Inc. just a local enterprise—we have grown. The tiny third floor walk-up office of 1907 has expanded into possibly the most unique agency offices in America.

We have started hundreds of people in the Insurance business—they have prospered through our Agency Service—for ours is a Service to both assureds and agents.

In addition to the many old companies for whom we act as territorial managers, today we are Home Office to three growing companies:

The Mutual Benefit Fire Insurance Company
Mutual Benefit Casualty Company
The Select Risk Mutual Fire Insurance Company

Let's talk Insurance—it's a grand business. Maybe you would be interested in joining with us. Quite a number of Juniata Alumni are associated with us here or elsewhere in the field.

Our business has grown year by year--in 1948 our premiums were more than $3,000,000.00. Submit your problems to us--maybe there is a place for you in this grand business. Let's get acquainted.

Yours for Security,

SWIGART ASSOCIATES, Inc.

Nylon Stockings for Women

The manufacture and distribution of Women's Hosiery occupies a prominent place in the field of American textiles.

Science, philosophy and craftsmanship have each made important contributions toward the development of Pennsylvania's hosiery industry, offering convincing proof of the stability resulting from the application of diversified talents.

GRANITE HOSIERY—manufactured in Souderton—is produced by men and women who have a sincere respect for their tasks.

This respect is reflected in the finished product and provides the reason for GRANITE'S fine consumer acceptance throughout the nation.
